NEW PROGRAM OFFERINGS

Master of Science in Accounting
We are pleased to announce our Master of Science in Accounting program has been launched here at South College Online. This program recently became available on August 25, 2021 and is perfect for you if you are considering growing your accounting skills. This program consists of both 5 and 10 week courses and has been designed to be completed within 4 quarters. For more information on admission requirements in this program and next steps for once you complete your bachelor's degree, be sure to speak with your Student Success Advisor today!

Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering Technology
Are you currently enrolled in the Associate of Science in Electrical Engineering Technology program and thinking about your next steps post-graduation? We have great news and are happy to announce that you can now advance straight through and complete your Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering Technology. This degree has been designed to provide you with the opportunity to learn more about engineering design and problem-solving electric circuits, digital techniques, control systems, communications systems, microprocessors, and microcontrollers. Taken as a full-time student with no previous coursework, this program was designed to be completed in as little as 3.5 years, which means that as a current student, it should be even shorter for you. If you are interested in pursuing this degree be sure to discuss the next steps with your Student Success Advisor today!
Did you know that there are many different avenues for you to access tutoring services here at South College? If you have gone to Smarthinking and still feel like you need more support, be sure to visit our South College Virtual Writing Lab and Math Lab! We have many wonderful faculty waiting to help you find success in your studies. Be sure to open the camera on your smartphone and scan these QR codes today!

South College is now providing students with the ability to connect virtually via Microsoft Teams. Be sure to log onto your South College Microsoft 365 account to access Microsoft Teams and build your first team today! This can be a great tool for you to stay in contact with students from specific classes, build study groups, and create social groups all with students across the country and/or locally.

For more information on how to access and use Microsoft Teams, be sure to select the following video.
Meet Your Student Advisory Committee!

Seth Lindsey
Seth joins us from Enterprise, AL and is currently enrolled in the Bachelor of Science in Health Science (Pre-Physical Therapy) program. He is scheduled to graduate in November 2023 and is planning on gaining acceptance into one of the top Doctorate of Physical Therapy programs in the country. His ultimate goal is to move to the coast after completing his DPT to open his own rehab clinic. Seth’s fun fact is that he served active duty in the United States Marine Corps for 6 years where he provided presidential security under both the Obama and Trump administration.

Mariah Clark
Mariah is currently located in Athens, TN and is pursuing her Bachelor of Business Administration with a Concentration in Healthcare Administration. She is scheduled to graduate in November 2023, in which her goal is to either become a nursing home administrator or work in a position within Human Resources. One fun fact about Mariah is that she knows all there is to know about Star Wars and the lore behind it.

Joel Elam
Joel is currently located in Shelby, NC and pursuing his Bachelor of Science in Health Science (Pre-Physician Assistant) degree. He is scheduled to graduate in June 2022, after which he plans on attending the South College Master of Health Science in Physician Assistant Studies program. Joel has ridden his bicycle across the Golden Gate Bridge for a fantastic view and experience!

Jeffrey Mbarushimana
Jeffrey is currently enrolled in the Professional Master of Business Administration with a Concentration in Healthcare Management program. He joins us from Greenville, NC and should complete his degree in July 2022. Post-graduation, Jeff’s goal is to continue to advance into a healthcare management role. His interesting fact is that both he and his family fluently speak 7 languages.

Allison Nowacki
Allison joins us from Georgia and is currently enrolled and scheduled to graduate this November from the Bachelor of Science in Health Science (Pre-Physician Assistant) program. After graduating her plan is to attend a PA school next fall to prepare her for a successful career starting out in primary care. When not studying for school, you can find Allison indulging in one of her biggest guilty pleasures, watching 90’s sitcoms.

Alyssa Bombalski
Alyssa is currently pursuing her Bachelor of Science in Health Science (Pre-Physical Therapy) and is located in Pittsburgh, PA. She is expected to complete her degree in 2023, in which she plans to continue onto a Doctor of Physical Therapy program to ultimately begin her career as a Physical Therapist. One thing that Alyssa holds near to her heart is her souvenir spoon collection. Starting from when she was a little girl, her parents would travel and bring back a new spoon for her. It is now a tradition that she carries on in her career as a flight attendant.

Harley Frizzell
Harley is currently located in upstate South Carolina and is in the second quarter of her Associate of Science in Health Science (Pre-Pharmacy) program. She became a part of the Student Advisory Committee to be a part of the positive changes at South College and build a community for the online campus.

SUMMER 2021 QUARTER HIGHLIGHTS

VIRTUAL STUDENT MEET AND GREETS

South College Online programs recently concluded our programmatic semi-annual virtual meet and greets. Students across the country met via Zoom technologies for 2 hour sessions where they exchanged personal information to not only help support one another in their future endeavors and their classes but to also help build personal relationships that will last a lifetime. If you just started at South College or were unable to attend your virtual meet and greet held in July or August, be sure to stay on the lookout for more information about the next sessions that will be held in January and February 2022. We look forward to seeing you all attend and start building a strong sense of community as a virtual student at South College.

WRITING AT THE COLLEGIATE LEVEL WEBINAR

Near the end of August, South College offered a special virtual seminar to help you feel more confident at writing at the collegiate level. If you were not able to attend the live session and seem to be struggling with your writing, we highly encourage you to watch the recording of this session. This session provides you not only with tips and tricks as far as how to position your assignments when you see different key words, but also some of the areas you should be focusing on and implementing in your writing as you move through your degree. To watch the Writing at the Collegiate Level Webinar, click HERE.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL BOOK CHALLENGE

Throughout the month of September, each student received the opportunity to compete in our Back-to-School Book Challenge. You were challenged to read as many novels as possible and write a one-page synopsis of what the book meant to you. Entries are still being accepted and will continue to be accepted through Thursday, September 30th. We encourage you to start reading and continue to submit your entries! To participate, please send your synopsis of each book you read to Dr. Mari-Kathryn Arnold at marnold@south.edu.

SEPTEMBER 2021
Meet Tamika Mcknight
Tamika graduated in August 2020 with her Associate of Science in Health Science (Pre-Nursing) degree and is currently the owner of a small business, Loving Hearts Home Health, LLC. Overseeing everything from the day to day operations, payroll, and staffing, she is in charge of ensuring her business finds success on a daily basis. Tamika is not only a successful small business owner but is also a Certified Nursing Assistant, utilizing the skills and knowledge that she gained from her education at South College to help her with expanding her business and success. She feels that online school has prepared her in a variety of ways including aiding her with mastering the ability to multitask and build a stronger business foundation. Tamika makes note that the faculty of South College has always worked with her to help ensure that she achieved her goals and without that support she may not have experienced the success that she has post-graduation.

INSPIRATIONAL INSIGHT
This quarter, we asked you to share with your classmates what inspires and keeps you motivated throughout your courses. Take a look at what you said!

HALLOWEEN VIRTUAL TRICK OR TREAT SCAVENGER HUNT

South College invites you to join and participate in our second annual Virtual Trick or Treat Scavenger Hunt. Each day beginning Monday, October 25th through Friday, October 29th, you will be challenged to complete a daily task for your chance of being named one of the Trick or Treat Scavenger Hunt winners for some South College swag. Be sure to regularly check your South College emails each day Monday, October 25th through Friday October 29th to receive and complete your daily task.

NATIONAL CAREER DEVELOPMENT MONTH

South College is happy to announce that we will be celebrating National Career Development Month throughout the month of November. To celebrate the significance of career and professional development, you are invited to attend workshops on resume writing, cover letter writing, job searching skills, networking skills, interviewing skills, and more. We also will be hosting two contests for your chance to win some South College swag and be recognized in next quarter’s newsletter!

NATIONAL EDUCATION SUPPORT PROFESSIONALS DAY

We are inviting you to help thank and recognize the various staff members who have worked with you and supported you so far throughout your education at South College. November 17th marks National Education Support Professionals Day. To help us celebrate those who have provided you with an unwavering commitment to your success in your educational journey, we hope that you will participate in recognizing these individuals. More information on how to share your experiences and recognize these transformational staff members will be distributed to your South College email in the beginning of November. We look forward to you helping us recognize these individuals!

TROTTLING THROUGH THANKFUL THOUGHTS

Be sure to help us “trot” through your thankful thoughts throughout the month of November. More information on how you can participate and share your thankful thoughts with your classmates will be communicated with you via your South College email in mid-November.

HOLIDAY CHEER AND WARMTH THROUGH THE YEAR

South College invites you to join in sharing warmth and cheer throughout the year throughout the month of December. This year, the Student Advisory Committee members have decided to sponsor various fundraisers and non-profit organizations to give back to our community. Don’t forget to check your South College email in December for more information on how to participate and share the warmth and cheer throughout the year.
Basic Work Email Etiquette

As technology advances, the ways in which we communicate at work are constantly evolving. Despite that many of us have communicated with colleagues, friends, and families via e-mail for many years, our communication through email has become informal and now tends to push the boundaries of what is viewed as acceptable and professional in the workplace. Here are some tips to keep in mind for when you send your next work email to help make sure that even if it is forwarded that, you will be viewed as a professional.

Concise & Clear Subject Line

The growth of technology has helped to increase and improve various industries and many lines of work. While individuals can complete more tasks and higher volumes at rapid speeds, subject lines in emails help employees to manage the volume and organize their work. Clear and concise subject lines help identify the significance of the email. Although not every employee will delete an email without a subject line or an email with a vague, obscure, or even cute subject line, many emails that include a subject line lacking content or information will not be viewed as critical or imperative to that employee.

Attention to Replies

There are two components to focus on when replying to an email including monitoring the receiver(s) and ensuring that the content is appropriate for future sharing. When selecting the reply option, if the response does not apply to every recipient, be sure that only the appropriate recipients are included on the response. Personal information, personal feelings (positive or contentious), and inquiries should typically only be directed to specific individuals and not large groups. Whenever personal information is shared, there are questions of safety and professionalism that come into consideration.

When replying to emails, attention should also be spent on the phrasing and content of the response. Although most emails may not be forwarded for someone else to review, there is still a chance that additional guidance or advice is needed on an email that your original content will be shared. To ensure that you appear as a true professional, it is important that the content of your email is absent of slang, vulgar, or inaccuracies. Be sure that the tone of your email is also peaceful and pleasant. Whether or not you are upset or heated, avoid putting words in all caps. This tone may be an immediate turnoff to the recipient, as you may not see the value in these types of remarks, many Generation X and Baby Boomers do. Before jumping into the details of why you are writing the email, try starting your email with a friendly statement that indicates that you respect the individual as a person. These might include something as simple as:

- I hope that this email finds you well
- I hope that you had a wonderful weekend
- I hope that your week is going well
- I hope that all has been well since we last spoke

Incorporating a Pleasantry/Greeting

As you near the completion of your email, be sure that you are acknowledging the individual's time. Although this seems inherent when interacting face to face with someone, often times, individuals get caught up in the moment and the writing that they forget how far a simple thank you will go. Understanding that the person you are emailing is not there to serve you and only you is important and will help to create a more welcoming and supportive work environment.

Signature/Contact Information

Another sign of professionalism in email is to include a signature or in the least your contact information. Whether it is an internal or external email, it is always encouraged for you to include your signature at the bottom of every email. This ensures that the recipients of your email will know how to contact you with any additional questions or concerns and can also easily share your contact information on to others.

Proofread

Lastly, before you send any email, be sure to proofread. Make sure that it is free of spelling and grammar errors. When others, especially those beneath you, catch mistakes in emails, your credibility will be immediately questioned. Concerns or thoughts may pass through another's mind questioning your education, qualifications, intelligence, and competence. When your authority begins to be questioned, your chances for advancement begin to become limited.

Calendar of Events:
Did you know that you can expect an email the first of every month with a calendar of our virtual events? Each month the department of Student Services hosts various virtual events and webinars to help you expand upon your knowledge and become more engaged. Don't forget to view the calendar of events to see which webinars can benefit you as you continue to pursue your degree.

South College Email:
Be sure to regularly check your South College email. By enrolling in South College, you agreed to the Student Handbook which states “All students MUST utilize their South college email account.” If you do not regularly check your South College email, you may be missing out on important communication from your instructors and staff.

Follow Us on Social:
Don't forget to follow us on Social Media. When you follow us on your favorite Social Media Platform, you will stay "in the know" of upcoming events and other important, exciting news and announcements.

DID YOU KNOW?
Did you know that all virtual events are recorded? If you see an event that you are interested in attending but can't make it during the time, be sure to still sign up. By signing up for the event, you will be able to access the recording of each event approximately 24 hours after the event has concluded directly through the registration link. Don't ever worry again about missing content and information that interests you!
Student Services & Resources

Free counseling services are available to you and your family members 24/7 through ComPsych counseling services. You can obtain help for various issues including anxiety, depression, stress, grief, life adjustments, substance abuse, and relationship conflict through calling (844)268-5855.

Writing Lab
If you need additional guidance with your writing skills, please reach out to lonaswritinglab@south.edu. You will be paired with a faculty member to gain additional assistance on various writing techniques including topic development, researching skills, formulating theses, formatting/citing sources, improving grammar and more.

Disability Services
Students who seek reasonable accommodations should notify Dr. Mari-Kathryn Arnold, Director of Student Affairs at marnold@south.edu to schedule an intake meeting and review the accommodations process.

Virtual Math Lab
The virtual Math Lab via Zoom is available to all math students on all campuses Monday - Friday. For more information on how to access these sessions, please contact Dr. Mari-Kathryn Arnold, Director of Student Affairs at marnold@south.edu.

SmarThinking Tutoring
Online tutoring is free and available 24/7 through this resource for more than 150 subject areas. Be sure to log on and wait to receive on-on-one help with homework or schedule an appointment for a time that is more convenient for you. If you have a brief question, don’t forget, you can also submit it for a tutor to respond at a later time.

Career Services
Career assistance and professional development services and resources are available to all students and alumni. Students requiring assistance on resume and cover letter writing, job searching, networking, interviewing and more should contact Dr. Mari-Kathryn Arnold, Director of Student Affairs at marnold@south.edu.

Sexual Misconduct (Title IX) Policy Information
South College is committed to fostering an environment that is free from all forms of sexual misconduct, including sexual discrimination, sexual assault, sexual harassment, domestic violence, dating violence, sexual exploitation, stalking, retaliation, and intimidation. Creating a safe and non-discriminatory campus environment is the shared responsibility of all members of the South College community. To view South College’s Sexual Misconduct (Title IX) Policy and a list of Title IX Coordinators by campus location, please visit: https://www.south.edu/student-resources/title-ix/. Questions regarding the policy or to report any form of possible discrimination based on sex should be reported to the Title IX Coordinator.

Non Discrimination Statement
South College is an equal opportunity college open to any qualified individual without regard to race, religion, sex, age, color, national or ethnic origin, sexual orientation, or disability. Pursuant to all applicable federal anti-discrimination laws, including Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and regulations, South College does not discriminate against any of the protected categories of individuals in the administration of policies, programs, or activities. This nondiscrimination policy includes admission policies, loan programs, employment practices, and all other college-administered programs.
